CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Official Paper of Amador co.

FRIDAY.....NOV. 30, 1906

MONEY GOING OUT OF COUNTY.

At the last meeting of the supervisors, the sum of $543.27 was allowed A. Carlisle & Co., printers and stationers of San Francisco. This was principally for supplies of printing and stationery for the election. It was more than all the local papers received for county printing and advertising during the campaign. And this money was paid out without any protest, notwithstanding that there is no rate fixed by the board for such supplies, as required by law. Such a large sum would represent the earnings of a printer for more than half a year. And the work goes out of the county to build up outside communities rather than Amador county. This is a state of affairs that would not be tolerated in any other county in the state, and it ought not to be tolerated here. The board of supervisors should carefully adhere to the law, and fix the rate of printing and advertising annually. Certainly if printing is done by outside firms, which might just as well, and with a saving to the taxpayers, be done in local offices, and the claims are not legal in the strictest sense of the word, they should be rejected in the interest of home industry. To refuse payment of one or two of these foreign claims would speedily wind up that sort of business. The grand jury might spend a little time very advantageously in looking into this matter. These members would be doing a real service to the taxpayers in probing this preference for outside shops to the bedrock. But will they do so.

NOT ENCOURAGING.

The advertised sale of the lone Creamery is far from encouraging to local enterprises. It is not so much, that there is no scope for the investment of capital in development of local affairs. Nor is from lack of capital that would, other things being equal, prefer such investment. The discouraging part of it is the reasons assigned for the determination of the directors to sell the property, and wind up the affairs of the company. The product of the creamery has always been of the best grade. The butter made had achieved a reputation second to none. It was sought after, and sold readily. The output was not equal to the demand. The business might have been increased many times over if the creamery were capable of such enlarged output. But the cause of closing out is stated, as the disagreements and bickerings of the stockholders. They could not, or did not, work in harmony. The company was split into contending forces, and hence the conclusion to disorganize.

DIVIDED SECTIONALLY.

Not since the Civil war has there been a situation in the United States senate which will parallel that which will exist after March 4 next. Every northern state will be represented by republicans. The south will be represented by democrats, excepting Missouri, whose representation consists of one republican and one democrat. The political complexion of the senate will stand sixty-one republicans and twenty-nine democrats. After Oklahoma has adopted a constitution and its legislature has been empowered to elect senators, the democratic total will be increased to thirty-one. Three northern states, Colorado, Montana and Idaho, are at present represented by democratic senators, but in the recent election all these resumed their place in the republican column and the successors of Patterson Clark and Dubois will be republicans.—Atholton Globe.

THE BLUEBEARD STORY.

It has a mythical rather than a mythological origin. The fascinating story of Bluebeard has a mythical rather than a mythological origin. No one has found his prototype in the Vedas or in the old Greek or Roman authors. The story is supposed to be of French origin, and it has even been suggested that Bluebeard was no other than the much married Henry VIII. There is, however, better reason for believing that the original was Gilles de Laval, lord of Rais, who was marshal of France early in the fifteenth century. He was a brave soldier whose exploits in the wars between England and France are recorded in history. According to Mizeray, he murdered his wives as soon as he tired of them, and was himself eventually strangled in 1440. The story of Laval has, however, not many points of resemblance, for there is no mention of a key, and Gilles de Laval, moreover, used to entice persons of both sexes to his castle for the sake of their blood, which he wanted for certain incantations to be indulged in. Nor, indeed, does the story fit in with our own Henry VIII, and we are left to believe that, whatever the origin, the key and Sister Ann were added for the sake of effect. A variant of the story of Gilles de Laval is told by Holinshed, in whose version the name is Gilles de Retz, Marquis de Laval, who lived in Brittany, and was strangled and burned for the murder of his seven wives. Dr. C. Taylor, it may be added, regarded the story simply as fiction, a satire on or type of the castle lords of the days of knight errantry.—London Globe.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

BLENDING SPIRITS.

Curious Results Obtained by Mixing Whisky and Water.

Some curious results are shown by blending of spirits. Take nineteen and one-quarter gallons of high proof spirits and add twenty-two and one-fourth gallons of water, and, strange to say, you have forty gallons, and not forty-one and one-half, as one would naturally suppose. This is reasonably explained by the large globules of the spirit absorbing the small globules of water, thereby lessening the volume of wine gallons.

Here is another phenomenon: Take equal parts of whisky and water, each at a temperature of 70 degrees F. Mix them and the temperature rises at once to 80 degrees.

If two barrels of whisky are placed under a roof, one with the bung in and the other with it out, the former will gain in proof, while the latter will lose. This is due to the fact that when the bung is in there is no evaporation, but the barrel absorbs the water much faster than it does the whisky. When the bung is out there is evaporation, and the spirit evaporates easier than the water.

These are a few of the facts that an old rectifier who can neither read nor write has gathered in fifty years of experience as a cellar man. He keeps trace of his liquors by their marks, and, strange to say, he can read his gauges and thermometers with accuracy and is curious and exact in his knowledge of chemistry as applying to his trade.—New York Press.

Greek Palate Ticklers.

As delicacies the Greeks ate young forces caught in the autumn, robins and sparrows and certain kinds of fish snared by moonlight. There is a scrap of an old Greek comedy in which a cook boasts of frying a fish so exquisitely that it threw him grateful looks from the pan. A famous Greek dish was the Trojan pig, half of it boiled and the other half roasted. It was stuffed with eggs, oysters and thuribles. The Romans ate snail-giant monsters—fattened until their shells held an incredible amount of snail. The kettle in a high class Roman kitchen was often shaped like an elephant's head. The water was poured through the trunk. The gridiron might be a huge silver spider or a skeleton fish.

How to Prevent Coughing.

Coughing is the worst thing for a cough, and in most instances of cough there is more coughing than is necessary to subserve the purpose of the cough—i. e., to remove offending material. The following conditions will help one minimize coughing in all instances, while in the milder cases it may stop the cough altogether after a little perseverance. When tempted to cough take a deep breath, filling if possible every air cell, holding it until the warming, soothing effect comes or so long as is reasonable, and mark the mollifying result on the cough, which, even when the latter seems unavoidable, will often be found under control.

The Horse's Inferno.

"Paris is the inferno of horses" is a very old aphorism. French cabmen and carters have in general very little love for the horse. Many consider this wretched creature as a simple tool, a motor with four feet, rather than as a precious servant worthy of regard and consideration. Not a day passes in the capital without one witnessing revolting brutality, often coupled with real stupidity.—Paris Eclair.

Not Responsible.

Workman—Mr. Brown, I should like to ask you for a small raise in my wages. I have just been married. Employer—Very sorry, my dear man, but I can't help you. For accidents which happen to our workmen outside of the factory the company is not responsible.—Pilegende Blatter.

AUKUM.

There was a "mothers meeting" at Mrs. Stumpff's on Wednesday last, which was attended by the matrons of this vicinity. It was a social gathering well received. As the meeting was held at a motherless woman's, doubtless she listened attentively to the numerous ladies of matron demeanor, and womanly capability. Without jesting the gathering was one of social friendship that might be initiated in the purest of social fields. The dinner of the occasion was an affair of gastronomic loveliness worthy of the palate of anyone, and while it quieted the inner being, it left too, a lasting impression linking the matrons into a universal chain of friendship and lasting remembrance of social love.

Bricks.

There is no building material so durable as well made bricks. In the British museum are bricks taken from the buildings in Nineveh and Babylon which show no signs of decay or disintegration, although the ancients did not burn or bake them, but dried them in the sun. The baths of Caracalla and of Titus in Rome and the Thermae of Diocletian have endured the ravages of time far better than the stone of the Coliseum.

He was committed to the insane asylum about two years ago, and was discharged, cured of his mental ailments, about one year ago. After his release he repaired to his ranch above Pine Grove, but was compelled to seek a home in the hospital about two months back. He leaves several relatives, among them being Eli Vandament of Jackson, a brother. The body was removed Wednesday morning and taken to Pine Grove, for interment in the village cemetery, where his father and mother are buried.

Taxes came in at a lively gait the last two days before delinquency. About the usual amount was collected. Some $30,000 in silver was taken in for taxes on the first installment. This is nearly one-half of the total amount. Much of the white coin was received in cashing checks at the bank. The bank pays in silver without discount, and hence the large proportion of silver coin. Much of the bulky money, however, speedily finds its way back to the bank vaults.

Mrs. M. Freeman, who has been here on a visit of several weeks, left her home in Oakland Monday morning.

Ben Griffin, who has been away for the past year in the state of Nevada, arrived in Jackson Saturday last.

There was much complaint one or two days the last week on account of the dust on the principal street. The strong wind that prevailed, blew the dust in clouds into the streets, damaging goods as well as a source of much annoyance to pedestrians on the streets. This is the worst time of the year for dust. If it happens to be dry weather for a few days, the wind that usually prevails at some portion of the day, raises a dust storm. The sprinkling cart was not in action at first, but the annoyance became so pronounced that the sprinkler was put in motion, and abated the nuisance.

A large pile of broken rock is being accumulated near the north bridge on Main street, for the on the streets when needed.

W. L. Fortner has put in a concrete floor in front of the treasurer's office in the hall of records. The old floor of matched lumber would not stand any length of time. It was simply nailed on the rough concrete, and the rain beating under the door quickly rotted it, so it was decided to replace it with solid cement.

He has resigned his position with the Electric company, and will devote his attention to the practice of law exclusively.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN PLYMOUTH.

Levaggi's General Store Gutted and Stock Ruined.

The most disastrous fire Plymouth has had for years occurred at an early hour Sunday morning. B. Levaggi, the leading merchant of that town, purchased the old Empire store over a year ago. He has been gradually moving his stock therein, fixing up the store in a manner superior to any other store in the county. Only a few weeks back he finished this work, and had got nicely established in his new, and more commodious quarters, when the fire flared took a hand, and spoiled the work of months of labor, and thousands of dollars of cost.

How or exactly when the fire started is not known. There was a dance in Plymouth Saturday night, and patrons returning therefrom, and passing the large brick store, smelled the odor of burning clothing. The store was tightly closed, and no smoke was visible. There was no draught, and consequently no outward manifestation of the destructive work that was going on inside. However, the suspicious odors led to investigation. The proprietor was apprised of the suspicion, and about half past five o'clock it was found that a serious fire was raging inside.

Realizing that the fire would be greatly stimulated by opening the doors before there were any means at hand to fight the flames, it was wisely determined to keep the store closed for a time. There was no water supply available. Somehow, the town water works is not kept in shape to fight fire at all hours.

Furthermore, there were no other apparatus for fire fighting, in the shape of chemical fire extinguishers to be had in town. In this dilemma, messengers were dispatched to the Fremont mine, three miles away, for several chemical extinguishers kept there. As soon as these were secured, the store was entered. The smoke and heat was something terrible. But the extinguishers did excellent work, and the fire was got under control in a brief time, with the aid of water, that was turned on after a while.

About the entire stock in the large store was destroyed or ruined; except the hardware portion and other goods. The fire was principally in the dry goods and clothing department. Everything in these lines was either total or partially ruined. And the entire inside was black with smoke, imparting a grimness and forbidding aspect to the fixings and entire establishment that had only just been placed in such natty and business-like shape. The stock was valued at about $30,000. Probably the heaviest merchandise stock in the county.

There was an insurance of only $4000. Levaggi is a very heavy loser. He was in no way discouraged by the stroke of hard luck. He had been in San Francisco on business, and only reached home the evening prior to the fire—just in time, as he expressed it, to see it burn. He has another store building some distance north on Main street, and in this, his old store, he was prepared to do business in a short time. How the fire started is a mystery. Some incline to the theory that it was the work of an incendiary. Still there was little evidence to support this view. It started in the cellar. There was no doubt on that point. And the most generally accepted explanation is that it was a case of spontaneous combustion. A barrel or so of waste was in the cellar, and perhaps oily or fatty rags were thoughtlessly placed there-in, which generated the fire.

Sunday was gala time at the skating rink. There were estimated to be fully 300 persons there in the evening. All the skates that could be mustered up in town were in use, and more would have been hired if they were to be had. Some 60 or 70 skaters were gliding over the polished floor at one time. It was quite a sight. A number of patrons from outside places were present, as the Jackson rink is conceded to be the finest place for this sort of amusement that Amador county has ever seen. Not a few ugly tumbles were experienced, and in two or three cases the services of a doctor were called for. But these little mishaps serve not to damp the ardor in the least. The tumbler are generally on their feet again and spinning around as lively as if nothing had happened. Skating is the rage just now. It has taken Jackson by storm.

All kinds of Christmas goods on the way, at the Jackson Shoe Store. Louis Piccardi returned this week from San Francisco. He has been doing teaming work there from soon after the fire. He brought back one team, probably through the winter.

The Bates-Banks dramatic company furnished a week's series of plays in Jackson Saturday night. There was a good house the last night, and the play was enjoyed by all. This is really one of the best troupes that has visited this city for a long time.

Don't forget that the Jackson Shoe Store has a special sale Saturday, remnants.

Miss Eva Leek returned Sunday evening, after a week's visit to San Francisco, and has resumed her position as cashier at the Jackson Shoe Store.

Saturday for remnants at the Jackson Shoe Store, one day.

Dr. Chas. B. Taylor, a former resident of Amador City, and Miss Laura Mabury of San Jose, Cal., were quietly married in Oklahoma City, Nov. 11. They will make their future home in Spencer, Oklahoma, where Dr. Taylor is making a name for himself as a physician and surgeon.—Amador Record.

The Jackson band gave a dance in Love's hall Thanksgiving evening, which was fairly patronized, considering the cold weather.

The Supervisors will meet next Monday in regular session.

Pretty Church Wedding.

Last Wednesday at high noon a very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Central Methodist church, the contracting parties being Miss Marie Griffith of Plymouth and Harold Dixon of Sacramento. Rev. George M. Richmond officiating. The church was tastefully decorated in smilax and chrysanthemums. The bride was attired in white crepe-de-rate over cream satin; her bouquet of carnations and ferns. The bridesmaid was gowned in light blue crepe-de-Paris with white lace and she carried a bouquet of large white chrysanthemums. The happy couple were attended by Miss Hazel Griffith and Charles Griffith, cousin and brother of the bride.

Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present. After congratulations and amid a shower of rice the happy couple departed on the south-bound train, Miss Louise Dietrich having secured the bride's bouquet. On their return Mr and Mrs Dixon will make their home at the Golden Eagle hotel.

Those present were: Messrs. D. McAlpine, C. Flint, Lester Bowden, George Yeary, Clement Dixon, Mr and Mrs Dixon, Misses Portia Griffith, Anna McAlpine, Mabel McAlpine, Louise Dietrich, Marion Owens, Hazel Griffith (bridesmaid), Charlie Griffith (groomsman), Misses Valda Potter, Mabel Broten, Flora Emmett, Irene Baker, Grace Johnson, Amelia Rothwell, Ester Anderson, Annie Sundholm, Bella Shaw, Merta Meade, Mabel Granger, Dr. M. M. Crane-miller, Miss Hazel Granger.—Sacramento Bee.

Telephone Line Knocked Out.

The telephone business of Sutter Creek was completely knocked out last Wednesday afternoon in a peculiar manner. It seems that the wire carrying 17,000 volts of the electric power line from Electro to Amador City, fell on the lines of the Sunset Telephone Co., at a point several hundred feet from the Sutter Creek central station. The effect was to burn the cable carrying over 100 wires completely out, shutting off all communication by telephone with that town. Not only were the fuses burned out, but the main cable for 350 feet was ruined, and had to be replaced. A force of repairers was put to work, and kept going night and day, and the line was in working order by Sunday night. This mishap involved the company in an expense estimated at $1000.

Accidentally Shot Himself.

Willis E. Hoss met with a severe accident last Tuesday. He was out on horseback about two miles from his home, W. C. Hoss. Seeing a polecat he undertook to shoot it with a six shooter that he had with him. While manipulating the weapon preparatory to shooting, it was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking the second finger of the left hand at the second joint, shattering the bone. Strange to say, he did not feel the slightest pain, and really did not know he had shot himself until a few seconds afterwards. Seeing the condition of his hand, he started for home. The wound was dressed temporarily at the home of W. M. Nichols, and thereafter he came on to Jackson to have the finger surgically dressed. The finger may have to be amputated, but that will be determined later.

Children's Day.

Last Tuesday was observed by the Native Daughters of Ursula Parlor as children's day. In the afternoon, after school hours, the children of native daughters assembled in Odd Fellows hall to the number of nearly 40. A short program was gone through, participated in by twelve children, and consisting of recitations, songs, etc. After which the little guests repaired to the banquet hall, and were regaled with cake and candy. Every attendant was sent home happy in the possession of a sack of sweetmeats.

Thanksgiving Wedding.

Rev. Father William Hughes will return to his home in this city in a few days in order to officiate at the marriage of his brother Luke and Miss Elsie Pithan, of Jackson, Amador county, which will take place at 10 o'clock on Thanksgiving day at the cathedral. Mr Hughes is well known in Sacramento. He was formerly a student of the department of engineering of St. Mary's College, Oakland, and is at present employed by the Southern Pacific Company at Bakersfield. The bride-elect is a daughter of Ephraim Pithan, a stock raiser and lumberman of Amador county. Miss Eugenia Hughes, a sister of the groom, will be the bridesmaid, and Harry Gichard, of Oakland, will be the best man. The wedding will be very quiet.—Sac. Bee.

Grand Jurors.

Thirty grand jurors appeared before the superior court this morning, and the following named persons were selected to compose the jury: F. B. Joyce, E. A. Merkel, W. S. Weymouth, V. J. Chichizola, John W. Jones, B. F. Taylor, John Lithgow, James Meehan, Jos. Marre, M. Isaacs, Robert Ellis, John A. Phipps, Joseph Schilling, D. V. Ramazotti, J. T. Clifton, Allen Hambro, Manuel Santiro, S. C. Wheeler, Geo. M. Waechter.

John Lithgow was appointed foreman, and V. J. Chichizola secretary. The jury is pursuing its labors as we go to press.

Henry Chapman, who has been employed at the Black Mountain quartz mine, in Magdalena, Lower California, Mexico, returned to his home in Jackson last week. He was not so impressed with conditions of labor in the Mexican republic to induce him to remain. He does not intend to return.

LIKE A ROMANCE.

A Story of Desertion and Long Hunt for Missing Father.

E. T. Heath of Jackson, Amador county has been in Nevada City this week for the twentieth time within the past nine years. Mr Heath says he is the legitimate son of the pioneer prospector of Meadow Lake district in Nevada county, who died suddenly fourteen years ago under circumstances that some people thought afterwards indicated foul play. The old man was commonly known here about as Henry H. Hartley, but Heath says his true name was L. T. Heath.

The purpose of the former visits of Mr Heath of Jackson, was to gather evidence to establish his identity as the prospector's son, and thus get possession of the property that was left when he died. This week he came to appear before the grand jury, and on Wednesday last at two o'clock in the afternoon he worked his way into the presence of that august tribunal. He presented to the grand jury a type-written document of three pages wherein he practically charged that his father had been murdered, and he set forth in his communication and by word of mouth a request for an investigation into the alleged mystery. He said the grand jury could get at the bottom of the affair if it would summon certain witnesses including Robert Campbell, a retired man of wealth living at the city of Oakland, John Clark who is a Meadow Lake mine owner and prospector, and certain other individuals living in Nevada county and elsewhere.

The grand jury sent for Henry Daniels of Grass Valley, who was coroner at the time of Hartley's death and subsequently presided at an autopsy and asked him some questions. Having done this faith in Heath's statements apparently vanished, for he was politely passed up by Sheriff Walker and district attorney Jones with the suggestion that he tell his troubles to them.

Heath's statement was substantially as follows: L. T. Heath, the Meadow Lake prospector, was born in New York in 1818, and in 1843 married Sarah Doud. To them three children were born, one of them being E. T. Heath. The father came to California in 1851, settling first at Ousley Bar on the Yuba river below Smartsville, where he became justice of the peace and was known as Judge Heath. He wandered around in Amador county and other sections, coming to Nevada county in 1857 and living in Grass Valley and Nevada City, where he was also known as Judge Heath to S. H. Dille of Grass Valley, James J. Lewis of the Blyan ranch near Grass Valley, and various other men who are still alive. Then he left for awhile returning in 1861 and settling at Meadow Lake, where he was the father of the boom that struck that camp and lasted one summer. From the beginning of his Meadow Lake experience or a little earlier, he gave his name as Henry H. Hartley. In the meantime he had without divorcing himself from his first wife, wedded a California woman named Lucy Webster, who died in a few years. In 1887 he married a woman who came out from England, and who at his death came into possession of his property consisting of 240 acres of patented mineral land that he owned under the name of Hartley. She had returned to England shortly before his death. His wife in the east did not die till 1889. Mr Heath of Jackson, told the grand jury he is the only genuine surviving heir of Hartley, and he proposes to fight to a finish the claims of widow Hartley, who is now known as Mrs Maude Alice Bonfield, she having been, after the death of Hartley, married to a Reno lawyer, who is dead. Mrs Hartley-Bonfield had various troubles after her removal from Meadow Lake to the State of Nevada, where she shot to death one lawyer for a moral wrong which she claimed he had inflicted upon her. She went to Denver after the death of Bonfield, and is said to be now in San Francisco or Los Angeles.

Heath told the grand jury that he hoped some time to establish the fact that his father was murdered. He said the old man awoke sick one morning in October, 1892, and at noon he died. There was then no suspicion of foul play, and he was quietly buried. Mrs Hartley upon her return from England, to which country she had gone a short time before his death, had the body disinterred and an autopsy was held by Coroner Daniels. It is claimed by the son that evidences of arsenic poisoning were found, and the conclusion arrived as a result of the autopsy was that Hartley committed suicide with rat poison. The son scents the suicide theory, and says that when the time comes he will spring a lot of testimony he has accumulated since he came to California nine years ago, to show that it was not a case of self destruction. He declares he will make it his life work to bring the alleged murderer to justice and to secure the property which passed to Mrs Hartley-Bonfield, when the old man died. The man from Jackson is showing much persistency in pressing his contention.—Miner-Transcript, November 24.

Mr Heath returned from his trip last Sunday. He spent three days in Nevada City. He says he went there well provided with documentary evidence, and the names of witnesses readily obtainable, to establish his claims as the heir of Hartley. The grand jury, however, treated him very bluffly. He was not even given the opportunity to give his testimony under oath. The only witness examined was G. Daniel, the coroner, at the time of the inquest upon the remains of Hartley, after they were disinterred to determine the current suspicions of foul play. The papers bearing on this inquisition, have, he alleges, disappeared from the court house records; and the manner and time of their disappearance cannot be traced. According to Mr Heath, his father, and he is fully satisfied the prospector was his father—was poisoned. Two kinds of poison were revealed by the analysis, so he says. The estate was probated under the name of Hartley, and distributed to his wife. The death occurred while Mrs Hartley was on a visit to England, and at her request the body was disinterred, when she returned on being apprised of his death. Mr Heath has been working incessantly to locate his father. He came to California nine years ago specially on this mission, and has been running down clues ever since. He got on what he believes the true solution—that is Hartley, about two years after coming here. His father left no other property than the mineral land, 240 acres at Meadow Lake—10 miles from Visco. One mine on this land has been opened off and on for years. He says, that there is a fortune involved in this contention; that a fractional part of the land has been estimated as being worth several hundred thousand dollars. He has never met Mrs Hartley. When he left Nevada City last Saturday, the district attorney and the sheriff promised to look into the matter further. Mr Heath is resolved not to let it drop, and if nothing is done within the next two months, he will appeal to the governor to take action. There is no doubt he is thoroughly in earnest, and believes he is the rightful heir to a large fortune. He is a poor man, working as a laborer for the city authorities of Jackson.

A County Sanatorium.

A movement that must meet with the unqualified approval of the people generally has been quietly, but effectively promoted by two or three enterprising citizens, and has now reached a stage that ensures its successful completion. It is for the establishment of a sanatorium or hospital for the treatment of surgical cases and diseases at a central point in Amador county. With the completion of the railroad to the mineral belt; such an enterprise, if properly managed cannot be otherwise than a success. The principal promoters are Dr. Phillips of Jackson, and Dr. Goodman of Sutter Creek. The matter has been canvassed thoroughly, particularly with the view of enlisting the mine owners in support of the scheme. In this direction every encouragement has been given. As it is now, employees meeting with accidents requiring surgical operations are often sent to the large cities for treatment, not because of lack of surgical skill, but because of lack of conveniences and conditions for the proper care of such cases. To obviate this, the proposed sanatorium is to be started. It will also be for general treatment. With our splendid and invigorating climate, it is expected to command support from outside points. By the payment of $1 per month, employees of the mines who become sick or disabled from accident, will be given treatment and nursing at the hospital. Of course a reasonable charge for board will be made, but beyond this everything will be included in the monthly one dollar fee. Patients will be free to make special arrangements with any doctor to attend them, if they so prefer.

A suitable site has been secured on the grounds of the Onedia Mining Company for the erection of the building. Plans and specification for the building have already been made out and adopted. It is expected that work on the building will be commenced right away. It will be provided with everything requisite for such an institution. From $8000 to $10,000 will be expended in the building and equipments. In two or three months, it is hoped to have the sanatorium ready for business. It is certainly one of the most urgent needs of this section, and should meet with the good will and active support of every resident anxious to promote the interests of Amador county.

MINING NOTES.

Kennedy—Several applications were sent in for the position of clerk, vice R. I. Kerr, resigned. It is understood that Alex Ross, a young man who has been working in the mine for some time, has secured the place. He is very highly thought of by all who know him, and his promotion is hailed with satisfaction, as well as considered a wise move for the company.

Bright—The mining expert, who experted this mine, left San Francisco for New York last Saturday, to report to his superiors, who are negotiating for the purchase. Strong hopes are entertained that the purchase will be consummated, and that the mine will be in operation before long. The verbal agreement requires work to be started within 30 days, and this term will expire on December 10. The purchase price must be paid within six months, so the interval can be used in prospecting the property. There is a shaft 300 feet deep, and hoisting works that can be put in working order in a few hours. So that every facility exists for prospecting operations. Word is expected at any time for the commencement of operations. All that is required to this end is to wire K. C. Hammond, superintendent of the Lucas mine, to start work and thereby keep alive the option. It is likely that the shaft will be put down two or three hundred feet deeper and prospect drifts run to test the ore body at that point.

Articles of Incorporation—Articles of Incorporation of the Gold Ridge Mining Company were filed with the county clerk on Monday last. The amount of capital stock is $150,000, divided into 150,000 shares at $1 each, of which $100 is subscribed by the five directors, namely, Fred B. Joyce, E. E. Endicott, Robert Ousby, Bert C. Austin, Geo. W. Brown, who subscribe for 20 shares each. The object of the company is to acquire mines and water rights, and operate the same. The principal place of business is Jackson. The special object is to acquire and operate the old Defender mine, in Pioneer district.

"Billy" Blue Passes Away.

William Blue, a well-known character around Jackson for over twenty years, answered to the calls of the last enemy on Tuesday. His end was not altogether unexpected, although when the attack came it moved rapidly to dissolution. Monday morning he was around as usual, doing some little work around Green's saloon, as was his custom for a long time. In the afternoon he was seized with two fits in rapid succession. He was thereafter removed to the hospital. He gradually became worse, and died the same evening. He was about 60 years of age, and a native of Scotland. He fell a victim to alcoholism. He was a hard drinker for many years, a slave to the liquor habit. It was wonderful that he withstood the undermining influence of drink so long. His effects were portrayed in his features and every movement. The habit never got him into trouble, as he was ever inoffensive. It is reported that he left a wife in Chicago, also a son, the latter grown to manhood. A few years ago he went back to Chicago, the necessary funds being sent to him for that purpose. He stayed but a short time, the ways not being up to his California habits. He got back to his haunts in Jackson as best he could.

Before being taken to the hospital, he passed Monday night in Newman's stable, where he frequently slept. There he was seized with several violent fits; and seeing that the end was coming, he was moved to the county institution in the morning. The convulsions or fits recurred at intervals until he died. He was apparently beyond consciousness, and unable to recognize any one. A subscription was taken up to give him a burial. The funeral took place Thursday, interment in the Jackson cemetery. He leaves a brother in El Dorado.

TOO HUMBLE A HUSBAND.

Position of Prince Albert, Royal Consort of Queen Victoria.

A woman looked up with a laugh from a heavy volume she was reading. "Now I know," she said, "why Queen Victoria was so fond of the prince consort. This husband did not merely regard his wife as his equal; he regarded her as immeasurably his superior, saying that it was his duty to sink his own individual existence in her. Listen to this letter that Prince Albert wrote to the Duke of Wellington. Here is a champion of woman's rights indeed. Don't you think, though, it is going too far for a man to humble himself so low as this?"

She then read from her book in a sarcastic voice:

"My Dear Duke:—In the question whether it is advisable that I should take the command of the army I have come to the conclusion that my decision ought entirely to be guided by the consideration whether it would interfere with or assist my position of consort to the sovereign. This position is a most peculiar and delicate one. While a female sovereign has a great many disadvantages in comparison with a king, yet if she is married and her husband understands and does his duty her position, on the other hand, has many compensatory advantages. In the long run will be found to be stronger even than that of the male sovereign. But this requires that the husband should entirely sink his own individual existence in that of his wife and that he should aim at no power by himself or for himself, being content to be the husband of the queen, the private secretary of the sovereign and the tutor of the royal children."

Reading on a Train.

If you travel back and forth into town every day you no doubt read your paper or a magazine on the train. While this is not, indeed, the best practice for the eyes, it seems a pity to waste so much time which might be turned to good account. Much of the annoyance which comes from train reading is due to the jolting of the cars, which continually knocks the printed line out of focus with the eye. This can be in some degree obviated by laying a card or some other object below the line to be read and moving it steadily downward while reading. This acts as a guide to the eye and helps to keep the sight fixed. Those who have tried it say that it wonderfully assists to decrease the difficulty of reading while in motion.

Trade Emblems on Tombstones.

In Scotland it was for a long time usual to place on a man's tombstone the symbols of his trade. Especially was this the case at Dunblane, where, in the burial ground of the abbey, it has been found that of those tombstones which are from 100 to 200 years old about one-fourth are thus marked, the symbols being in low relief. A sugar cane may be seen as showing the grave of a grocer; an ax and saw, with hammer and nails, occur on the grave of a carpenter; an awl and a hammer on that of a shoemaker. There are many other graves similarly marked.—London Answers.

Cutting Eyelashes.

An eyelash is pointed. A cut lash is blunt. A lash once cut never again becomes pointed. Every lash lives a variable time and then falls out to be replaced by a fresh one. When a cut lash so falls the newcomer is pointed. So any mischief resulting from cutting the lashes will be remedied by cutting the lashes grow to their full length. Opinions differ as to whether lash cutting promotes growth. That it renders the lashes unsightly is very certain.

The Orange Tree.

The orange is the longest lived fruit tree. It begins to bear the third year after budding, and for 100 years it will yield abundant crops. Orange trees have been known to attain the ripe age of 300. The orange requires less care and attention than any other fruit tree. Its early growth is rapid. In the first two years it grows more than it will in the next fifty. This refers of course to its height and breadth alone. Its fruit stems and consequently its crops increase more rapidly after the first ten years.

Here is our condensed opinion of the original laxative cough syrup: "Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opium. Kennedy's Laxative, (containing) honey and tar moves the bowels resulting from cutting the lashes will be remedied by cutting the lashes grow to their full length. Opinions differ as to whether lash cutting promotes growth. That it renders the lashes unsightly is very certain."

From Our Exchanges

On Wednesday the depositions of fifteen witnesses in the case of Ernest E. Wood vs. the Globe Democrat Printing Company of St. Louis, were taken before Justice C. H. McClure. Wood is suing for $600,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained to his character at the hands of the company in a libelous article appearing in their paper some time ago. Ernest E. Wood was formerly a resident of this town and ran for the office of district attorney of Calaveras county on the republican ticket in 1898, being beaten by only a small majority. Afterward Wood removed to St. Louis, and later was elected to congress from the twelfth district of Missouri, running on the democratic ticket. It was claimed that his election was not legal and a contest was made. No decision was reached, however until last May, at which time the republican was seated; Wood in the meantime served two terms in congress. The libel suit grew out of articles appearing in the Globe Democrat derogatory to his good character, hence the taking of depositions as to his reputation while a resident of this town. The depositions for Wood were taken by A. Barry, while Snyder & Snyder looked after the work for the Globe-Democrat.—Prospect.

The supervisors of Calaveras, Amador and San Joaquin counties will meet Sunday at Mrs. Hill's place near Camanche to consider the question of a bridge across the Mokelumne river. The proposed bridge would be near the junction of the three counties and if built it will be done by the joint payment of the same. It is hardly apparent to us that Calaveras would be benefited by such a bridge commensurate with the cost. There is already a free bridge at Camanche, which seems to be sufficient for the needs of that portion of the county. It looks as though the main use of such bridge would be by the people of Amador who wish to go to Stockton for business.—Prospect.

On Tuesday morning at about 9:45, the little, and only child of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Moberly, Miriam Catherine, passed away at the family home in this city. The little girl was two years and twelve days old. The cause of death was an intestinal obstruction, caused probably by the little one having eaten some almonds which had fallen from trees growing in the yard. Little Miriam was playing about in the yard last Sunday morning, where her grandfather, J. W. Surface, was cleaning up the leaves from about the trees, and about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, began to complain of pains in her bowels. Dr. Adams was soon summoned and everything possible was done, but the obstruction remained in the bowels and her death ensued in less than 48 hours from the time she first began to complain.—Echo.

Last Saturday evening, as K. C. Downey was driving one of John Muldoon's teams, conveying a drummer and his trunk of samples to Jackson, he met with an accident in which he had his collar bone broken. At a place near the Kennedy mine, where the two roads are; one a couple of feet, or nearly so, below the other, a man who was coming up the grade, driving fast, ran into one of Downey's horses, causing him to jump from the upper to the lower road. Of course the wagon followed—one wheel at least, and the rig was overturned, Bob Downey having his collar bone broken in the accident. Bob's face was considerably skinned. The commercial man was not hurt as he had chosen a soft place to fall—falling on top of Downey.—Echo.
